

ABSTRACT

A decorative element for cover caps of airbag modules is provided. The decorative element includes predetermined breaking points and/or bending points. As a result of the predetermined breaking points and/or bending points, the decorative element tears together with the cover cap when an airbag is deployed.